MILITARY DICTATORSHIP FOR GERMANY; CROWN PRINCE PLEADS FOR SUBMARINES

EVENING WORLD WINS FIGHT FOR ROUSING "SEND OFF" DAY TO OUR OWN SOLDIER BOYS

All Red Tape Is Cut and Gen. O'Ryan Gets Orders to Make It a Success—Saturday, July 28, May Be Date.

"SEND-OFF THAT'S COMING TO THEM" WON FOR OUR BOYS

Wives and Sweethearts Sure Of a Public Goodby to Soldiers

The Evening World has succeeded in unwinding the apparently inextricable tangle of official red tape encountered in its campaign to "Give the Boys the Send-Off That's Coming to Them."

Gen. J. Franklin Bell was ordered by the War Department to send the following letter to Major John P. O'Ryan, commanding the State troops, authorizing him to use his fullest authority in organizing the big National Guard "Goodby Parade."

"In reply to your communication of July 13 I am informed by Secretary of War Baker, through Adjutant General McCain, that there will be no objection to the New York troops being paraded, providing there is no interference with the work of mustering in the men."

Saturday, July 28, will probably be the big day. That is a week from next Saturday.

Thanks to the efforts of The Evening World, the New Yorkers who have husbands, relatives and sweethearts in the National Guard can now rest assured, on the word of the War Department, that there will be no "sneaking away" of our boys.

THEY'LL GET "THE SEND-OFF" THAT'S COMING TO THEM.

Gen. O'Ryan, who has worked unflinchingly to bring this about, stands back of that statement.

"Send-off Day" is an assured fact. The Evening World's fight to give "the Boys the Send-Off That's Coming to Them" has been won.

Through Adjt. Gen. McCain, Secretary of War Baker, who has all along been heartily in favor of the idea, has issued orders to Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell of the Eastern Department of the United States Army, stationed at Governor's Island to place the entire matter of arrangements, etc., in the hands of Major Gen. O'Ryan, in charge of the New York troops.

Gen. O'Ryan is an enthusiastic as a boy over the fact that his desire to show New York what high-calibered men he had in his ranks, before their departure for cantonments or the front, has been granted.

"Send-off Day" will be "some big day."

Even though he can just now only fix a tentative date—Saturday, July 28—Gen. O'Ryan promises that.

"My instruction from Gen. Bell," he said to an Evening World reporter, "are specific in stating that while I have absolute discretion about parading the New York troops, the work of mustering in the men must first be thoroughly completed."

"This is certainly as it should be. I do not expect that the men can possibly be organized in such shape as to parade and give New Yorkers a proper idea of their boys for at least a week. I think, therefore, that Saturday, July 28, would be an excellent date."

"However, I do not wish the impression to go abroad that I have fixed a date. That would be impossible at the present time. I only received my definite orders from the War Department to-day, and naturally organizing a 'Send-off Day' for the 18,000 men of the National Guard presents many problems, many of which may not develop till we get to working on our plans."

Anyhow, no matter how Gen. O'Ryan and his staff may see fit to work their plans out, The Evening World has secured for New York the right to see the boys who are going to do the fighting in full battle array and give them the biggest sky-raising celebration and cheering that ever was or will be—till they come back again.

CANNING INDUSTRY IS HIT BY BUILDING NEW ARMY CAMPS

Canners Cannot Get Men to Work or Wood to Pack Products.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—An unforeseen economic development threatening the crops in many sections of the country, attacking the canning industry in all its branches from two directions, and forecasting a terrific waste in food materials right at a time when the country is in the utmost need of them, has arisen out of the construction of the sixteen cantonments which are to house the 440,000 men of the new selective draft army. Unless the Food Conservation Bill is soon made into law, the situation will be beyond repair—and even the Food Control Board is so far from the actual conditions that it may be unable to catch up.

A new angle of war, not anticipated by the Government, is now engaging the serious consideration of the War Department, the as yet unofficial Food Control Bureau and President Wilson.

Briefly stated, the Government has begun, through contractors who are working on a basis of 10 per cent. profit on actual cost, in different parts of the country, the construction of sixteen military wooden cities, each of which is to house 40,000 men. Each of these projects requires thousands of workmen and millions of feet of lumber. The result is that just at a time when the country is withdrawing nearly a million men from the industries and putting them under arms, at a time when the canneries are beginning to gather the vegetables and fruits, and the crops in the Southern and Mid-Western part of the country are ready for harvesting, a new labor field has opened up, which is seriously injuring the labor supply.

BUY LUMBER USED IN BOXING CANNED VEGETABLES.

Furthermore, the contractors have bought up all the second class pine lumber in sight. This is the lumber that has been used exclusively in the manufacture of boxes for the shipment of condensed milk and canned vegetables and small packages, products such as biscuits, starch, coffee in cartons, canned fish, spaghetti and the like.

The lumber used for box making purposes sold at from $5 to $10 per 1,000 feet. The cantonment contractors are paying $20 a 1,000 feet for it. Naturally the lumbermen are selling their lumber to the contractors, although the canners and food distributors have contracts calling for material for millions of boxes this summer and fall.

Inasmuch as the lumber is required for Government use the lumberman refuse to live up to the contracts with the canners, the condensed milk manufacturers and the food distributors. They set up the claim that the needs of the Government are above every other need and lawyers have told the men who need the material for boxes and can't get it that their contracts are worthless under the circumstances.

WILL LINE UP THE 12TH FOR GOODBY HUGS

Col. Foster Will Give Boys Two Hours in Skirmish Formation for Leave-Taking.

Col. Reginald L. Foster's command, the Twelfth, is at war strength to-day, but is still taking recruits. This is one of the regiments The Evening World has been aiding to get its full quota of 2,000 enlisted men and fifty-six officers.

In addition to the public send-off the Twelfth will receive, along with other New York units, the men are to have a little private farewell, thanks to Col. Foster, who says he doesn't believe in long-distance goodbyes, and thinks all's fair in love and war.

Mothers, sisters and sweethearts are going to get a close up of the boys of the Twelfth. After the parade, authorized through efforts of The Evening World, Col. Foster will line up his regiment in skirmish formation in Central Park West, from Columbus Circle as far north as they will stretch. "At ease" will be sounded, and mothers, sisters and sweethearts may go as far as they like for two hours. It is the only regiment that has thus far arranged for individual farewells.

ASK $5,000,000,000 MORE FOR U. S. ALLIES

Three Billions Now Authorized Likely to Be Exhausted Within Three or Four Months.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Congress probably will be asked to authorize another gigantic loan to the Allies. The $3,000,000,000 now authorized will be exhausted in three or four months at the rate the Government is lending money to them. Nearly half is gone already.

The second authorization is likely to be not less than the first, and may go to $5,000,000,000.

PROBE FAVORITISM CHARGES AS LOCAL BOARDS SPEED UP WORK OF DRAFTING SOLDIERS

Senators Say They Want to Know How Quotas Were Determined.

By Martin Green.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—With only eleven States still shy on complete reports of exemption boards, Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder has not abandoned hope that he may order on Wednesday the drawing to establish the order in which the men who have registered for army service are to be called for examination. He anticipates that the final reports will all come in with a rush. Only 753 of the 4,552 local boards have failed to make a report of any kind, and telegrams have been sent out stirring them up.

At any rate, Gen. Crowder does not anticipate that the draft will be postponed beyond Thursday. As soon as the order of the call is determined, the work will be sped up all along the line. The exemption boards will be asked to take up their duties in dealing with the drafted registrants as soon as possible.

Gen. Crowder made a ruling to-day that a drafted registered man who is unavoidably absent from the district in which he registered may, if he presents satisfactory proof to the local board that he cannot return for a medical examination or to file a claim for exemption on other grounds, be examined or file his claim with the board of the district in which he happens to be.

MUST GET AN ORDER FROM HIS OWN LOCAL BOARD.

It must be necessary, however, for him to apply first to his local board for an order legalizing this procedure. Then, if he is found physically fit and not subject to exemption, he will have to return to his local district for enrollment. If he is not physically fit, or is otherwise exempt, he may be so certified by the board of the district in which he finds himself.

The army officials in charge of the selective draft are regarding with some interest the activities of Miss Helen Todd, who is in Washington trying to make arrangements to introduce a dozen East Side mothers to President Wilson, members of Congress and Herbert Hoover of the Food Control Board.

Miss Todd gave out a column interview in Washington last evening. Half of it was devoted to poverty of the east side and the other half to an argument against sending the young men of the east side to war.

Miss Todd said that the mothers of the east side will protest to the President against policemen clubbing them into sending their sons to war. She declared that the mothers of the east side would rather shoot their sons than send them to war.

Miss Todd volunteered the information that when a pilgrimage of east side women marched to the City Hall last winter to ask the Mayor to reduce the high price of food, policemen clubbed them back. This is an exaggerated statement, to say the least. The women were not roughly handled by the police and Mayor Mitchell received a delegation of women from the east side and held a long conference with them.

It would interest army officers and certain members of the Administration to know who is financing Miss Todd's excursion of east side mothers.

WANT TO KNOW WHO IS FINANCING HER PROPAGANDA.

ASKED FOR "LIFT," KILLED.

Unknown Man, Known as "Bully," Hurled From Auto.

An unidentified man, known only as "Bully," was thrown early today, at First Avenue and Nineteenth Street, from the automobile of Patrick Hickey, of No. 524 East Eighty-seventh Street, and killed. The man, who was known to Hickeyman by sight, had asked for a "lift," and was thrown out when the machine collided with an auto truck driven by Frank Hickey of No. 161 East One Hundred and Fifth Street.

Witnesses said Hickeyman was driving recklessly, and he was arrested, charged with homicide.

VIENNA REPORTS RUSSIAN REPULSE IN CARPATHIANS.

VIENNA, July 17.—The official statement from Austrian headquarters says:

"In the wooded Carpathians and south of the Danube advances attempted by the enemy's reconnoitering detachments were repulsed. Otherwise there were no events of importance."

RUSSIANS SMASH GERMAN RESERVES; AUSTRIANS FLEE

Slavs Hold Dangerous Salient in Face of Furious Counter Attacks.

LONDON, July 17.—The Russian Embassy asserts to-day that the Austro-German forces in Southern Galicia are in full flight before the Russians. Unofficial despatches from Petrograd supplement this information with the statement that Gen. Boehm-Ermoloff's Austrians have been thrown back into the Carpathian foothills, and that the town of Dolina, for which the Russians struck after taking Kalusz, has fallen.

The taking of Dolina indicates an advance of thirty miles since the Russians began their drive south of the Dniester.

More importance, however, is attached to the report from Petrograd that German and Austrian reserves have made heavy attacks upon the Russians northeast of Kalusz and been thrown back with terrible losses. The significance of this report is that at this point the Russians hold a difficult salient, against which the Germans admit they have thrown their strongest forces, and been completely unable to break the Russian advance.

Arrival of huge forces of Austro-German reserve troops, speedily brought back from France and Italy, have failed to check Gen. Korniloff's forces. It is reported the Germans are draining their forces on the western front to meet the Russian peril, and a simultaneous offensive by the British and Italians may be the result upon the weakened German lines.

OFFENSIVE ALL ALONG THE LINE FORECAST BY BERLIN.

The Berlin bulletin hints at an offensive by the Russians over their entire front, from Riga to the Roumanian plains. The presence of War Minister Kerensky and his colleagues at the headquarters of Gen. Brusiloff, the commander in chief, may indicate a widespread Russian drive against all points of the Teutonic lines.

"On the Lower Lomnica," says the Russian report, "there have been fusillades and artillery bombardments. Northeast of Kalusz the Germans since morning have made energetic attempts to throw back our troops on the Lomnica. The Kiburn Regiment, weak in numbers but strong in courage, against which the principal German forces were thrown, repulsed the attacks."

"The commander of the brave regiment, Lieut. Col. Simovik, was wounded. After this, led by the regimental commander's assistant, the gallant Capt. Khlopoff, the Kiburners advanced and threw back the enemy, inflicting losses upon him and capturing prisoners and machine guns."

FRENCH RAID ALONG ROUMANIAN FRONT.

"The battle on the Landes-Reuligian-Kraena front (directly south of Kalusz and to the east of the Lomnica) continued all day. After a severe engagement the Austrians were driven out of the Village of Lodziany and pressed hard to the River Lomnica, but owing to attacks by newly arrived enemy reserves from the direction of Hozianow, and in view of the great losses among our officers, our troops were compelled to retire a short distance and entrench themselves in the eastern end of the village."

"Roumanian front.—In the region of the River Otuz one of our scouting parties on its arrival at the enemy's trenches was subjected to an attack by twenty Germans. The officers fought their way back, carrying the body of a dead soldier."

"Caesarea front.—Southwest of Gushkhaneh our troops beat off three Turkish attacks in the region of the Guran summit. In the direction of Panjwin, after an engagement, we stopped a Turkish advance."

DISMISSAL OF CHANCELLOR ANGRERS AUSTRIA AND BAVARIA; HOPES FOR REFORM VANISH

Reichstag Firm for Peace Without Annexations, Despite Royal and Army Wishes—Crown Prince Returns to Front, a Victor.

MICHAELIS A BELIEVER IN "DIVINE RIGHT OF KINGS."

LONDON, July 17.—The opinion of the best informed statesmen of Europe, as cabled here from neutral and belligerent capitals, on the appointment of Dr. Georg Michaelis, the plebeian bureaucrat, as Imperial German Chancellor, is that a thinly disguised military dictatorship has been established over Germany in an effort to put down democratic demands.

Michaelis, it is established, is a firm believer in the "Divine right of kings," who will base his actions upon his "interpretation of the Divine will."

Grave perils are ahead for the autocratic militarists of Germany from Bavaria, the strongest German state next to Prussia, and from Austria, for both these powerful German allies resent bitterly the deliberate affront offered them by the Crown Prince and his Junker class in deposing Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Bavaria and Austria backed Hollweg in his work for peace. They demanded that he be retained in office. Hindenburg, backed by the sabre-rattling Crown Prince and Gen. Ludendorff, asserted there could be nothing but a "German peace"—a peace of conquest, indemnities and annexations.

REICHSTAG WILL CONTINUE ITS FIGHT FOR PEACE.

Hollweg replied that he would declare against annexations and indemnities. In this he was energetically backed by Austria and Bavaria. Their wishes were contemptuously set aside by the Crown Prince and Hollweg was removed.

According to the Berliner Tageblatt, the Reichstag will not abandon its fight for peace without annexations and indemnities, despite the decision of the Kaiser and the Crown Prince. After a long conference with Hindenburg and Ludendorff, the Reichstag party leaders have decided to stand by their original peace statement that there must be no conquests.

The Berlin Boersom Courier understands that Michaelis will accept the majority party's peace views. This theory, however, is dashed by the fact that when he met the leaders of the Reichstag he called into the conference Hindenburg and Ludendorff, the leaders of the "German peace" movement. Their presence was taken to indicate there would be no separation between the military and political castes in Germany.

That the military caste is determined to push the war to the end, instead of seeking peace, is proved by a special number of the Leipzig Illustrirte Zeitung, which devotes itself to submarine propaganda and prints autographic replies from German leaders who were asked their opinions.

The Crown Prince says:

WHAT CROWN PRINCE THINKS OF HIS SUBMARINES.

"Borne upon the nation's confidence, with warmest wishes for favoring gales, upon their bridges the nation's best, for their crews are served by crews despising death, hated and feared by our foe, and ready ever for deeds of daring, may our submarines ever float the German flag victoriously through the seven seas and teach

NEXT WAR LOAN UP FOR DISCUSSION TO-DAY

Invitations have been sent to the governors of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks to meet at 10 o'clock this morning at the New York Federal Reserve Bank to discuss the forthcoming $500,000,000 loan which Secretary McAdoo is expected to announce within a few days. Governors of the banks at Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Richmond and New York are expected to be present.

The purpose is to arrange the details for the flotation which, it is thought, will involve more labor than the first campaign.
